

This is the first photo I take – or maybe it's this one.

Anyway, I can start here, with a small boy waiting at a stoplight. I can almost feel the winter air on his skin. I have a preoccupation, an obsession, with time. I want to stop time. We all do.

